To support children's learning and development through our educational toys

Peter Handstein
Founder & CEO

We've entered a time in which change and unexpected twists and turns have become inevitable features of almost every aspect of our lives. What hasn't changed, however, is the common wish of all parents to secure a better tomorrow for their children - and education is key to that.

At Hape, we seek to support children's learning and development through our educational toys, nurturing young minds and guiding them towards a promising and prosperous future. In light of these recurring beliefs, we are proud to announce that, due to the progress made over the last year and to our price-modifying strategy that has made our products more affordable, our play-based learning tools and products have reached more children and households than ever before.

2023 was a landmark year for the Hape Group, and we achieved astonishing growth. Altogether, we have experienced an average growth rate of over 20% over the last three years, and the success of our company is the direct result of the performances and achievements of our employees worldwide.

Resilience Through Diversification
Since our inception, one of our major strengths has been our in-house manufacturing - and our technical know-how and expertise in combination with having control of the manufacturing process from start to finish has been a real asset. Especially in recent years, amid economic and geopolitical challenges, having control over the entire supply chain has helped us to stay competitive and remain resilient to future disruptions.

In 2023, we continued prioritising the stability of our supply chain, taking further steps to diversify and localise our manufacturing operations. To achieve this, we've made strategic investments into three additional manufacturing units in Romania, and devised plans for future investments in production sites across Central and South America. Our long-term business strategy combined with our existing setup of global offices and local partners around the world will help us to build redundancy into our supply chain, bringing our products closer to the final consumer.

Hape Unveils its New Look
After almost two years of careful planning, designing, testing and implementation, we have finally launched the newly refreshed Hape brand into the world. We have strategically modernised our existing brand's identity, giving it a completely fresh look while retaining our core essence and values.
Our Hape logo is just one of the elements that we've decided to give a fresh look, and over the next few months, you'll discover cutting-edge colours, graphics, images and communication – adding further clarity to our mission, vision and values.

These noticeable changes in our brand's identity will accurately reflect what we stand for as a company and what we want our brand to communicate.

Customer Experience Remains Our Top Priority
During the year, we have continued to invest in providing memorable brand experiences for our customers around the world. We have achieved this through various projects and events that created safe and communal public spaces in which children and families could engage in open-ended play. While these projects are a great way for us to engage and connect with our customers, they also generate heightened visibility for our brand.

The experiences gained through these projects have been extremely valuable to us, establishing a foundation for long-term and sustainable growth within this new area of service.

Ultimately, it has also shown us, once again, that when you keep your customers at the top of your mind and at the centre of everything you do, you can thrive even in uncertain times.

Love play, learn.

Play is at the heart of everything we do. Children love to play and with our toys they gain valuable life skills. Because when children play with our toys they learn so much more about themselves and the world around them.

Quadrilla

Derived from the combination of two German words, "Quader" and "Rille", meaning "bricks" and "slots" respectively - which are also the main components of the game - Quadrilla's unique marble run system is "a lot like coding" (Wall Street Journal) and a perfect platform for STEAM education.
